Harvesting operations in this district are in full swing and the prospects for a better yield of grain than was expected. The green feed situation has also changed considerably and if the present fine weather lasts for a while longer there will not be much shortage in this respect. Implement dealers say that a considerable number of new binders are being turned out.

Will Have a Good Crop

As fine a sample of wheat as can be grown was brought into our office by Mr. J. C. Slagg who farms near the Waterloo school southwest of town, last week. This is the Emus Marquis wheat and the sample brought into us had ninety fat plump kernels to the head and had grown to a height of four feet. Experienced grain men who have seen the crop estimate that it will go 10 bushels to the acre. Mr. Slagg is lucky enough to have 160 acres of this wheat altogether and while a few acres suffered a 20 per cent. damage by hail the balance is in good shape. He also has 120 acres in oats and 40 acres of barley which are in fair shape. They only had a few light showers in that district before the big rains late in the summer and consequently this showing is a fine example of what this country can do under adverse conditions.

THE QUITTER

When you're lost in the wild, and scared as a child, And death looks you hang in the eye, And you're sore as a boil, it's according to Hoyle To cock your revolver and die!

But the code of man says: "Fight all you can," And self-dissolution is barred, In hunger and war, its easy to blow, It's the hell served for breakfast that's hard.

"You're sick of the game?" Well now that's a shame. You're young, and you're brave, and you're bright, "You've had a raw deal?" I know, but don't sign it; Back up, do your darndest and fight.

It's the plugging away that will win you the day.

So don't be a piker, old pard, Just draw on your grit, it's easy to quit.

It's the keeping your chin up that's hard.

It's easy to cry that you're beat, and die.

It's easy to crawl and crawl.

But to fight and to fight when hope's out of sight!

Why, that's the best game of them all!

And though you come out of each grueling bout All broken and beaten and scared.

Just have one more try, it's dead easy to die.

It's the keeping on living that's hard—EX.

"I think I have a cold or something in my head." "Probably a cold."

The failure to organize a Wheat Board to assume full charge of the marketing of this season's grain crop in Western Canada leaves the situation this year much the same as a year ago when a slump in prices took place as soon as the grain began to be placed on the market. The fall in prices was as great as to completely wipe out, in thousands of instances, the farmer's profit and to bring the selling price actually below the cost of production. Notwithstanding a fairly good yield in many parts of the West last year farmers sustained financial loss.

Now with the 1922 wheat crop about to be marketed, and with the best crop since the banner year of 1912 to be sold, it is of the utmost importance that this huge volume of wheat should not be forced on to the market at once, the probable result of which would be to cause a "break" in prices that would be disastrous and spell ruin to many people.

But, in the absence of a Wheat Board, it is possible to check and control the marketing of grain by tens of thousands of individual farmers? These farmers have contracted debts they must pay and are anxious to pay. The fall and early winter months, following the harvest, is the period for the liquidation of liabilities. Banks, mortgage companies, implement companies, merchants and individual creditors all expect and call on the farmer to "pay up" at this time and each and all usually proceed with measures to "collect." The wholesaler and jobber who has extended credit to merchants on the strength of the credit the merchant has given to farmers makes demand for his money, thus leaving the merchant no option, but to press the farmer. And the wholesaler is forced to do this, because the manufacturer is calling upon him to deliver his notes. And back of the manufacturer is the bank which advanced large loans to enable him to keep his factory busy and his men employed during the season when little ready money was coming in. The banks too, have made advances not only to the manufacturers, but all down the line to wholesalers, jobbers, merchants and farmers, and have financed mortgage and other companies during a period when they could not collect even interest in many cases and to mention principal sums.

Everybody will remember, of course, that the banks cannot go on in definitely advancing money on loan unless such loans are repaid and periodically there is a general liquidation of outstanding liabilities. Only so can banks function properly, the interests of depositors be safeguarded, and the financial stability of the country be maintained.

While fully realizing these things there is a factor in the present situation that must be taken into account if irreparable loss is not to be inflicted, not on the farmer alone, but upon even national interest, the banks and other large financial institutions not excepted.

This season's Western crop should be a debt reducing crop. Rightly handled it will accomplish that purpose in large measure. The fact must be appreciated, however, that one good crop will not offset the liabilities incurred during four or five years of poor crops or no crops at all. And if the pressure to secure collection of debts in all quarters is so great as to compel farmers to market their grain as cheaply as it is threshed, the market will be so glutted that prices will fall below a figure where any profit is left for the farmer. If the farmer derives no profit from his year's labor, and but barely succeeds in covering the costs of production, there will be nothing whatsoever to reduce the present burden of debt.

It because of stringency in attempts at debt collection, wheat is forced on the market beyond the ability of the market to absorb and a bad break in prices results, the farmer's profits will disappear and with the disappearance of these profits his ability to pay his debts. Failure on the part of the farmer to pay will react immediately on merchant, wholesaler, manufacturer and bank, and ultimately on the nation as a whole.

It, therefore, is not in the interests of the farmer alone that every effort should be made, and every device provided, to render unnecessary the dumping of the crop on the market immediately following threshing. It is as much in the interest of the Eastern manufacturer and financier as it is in the interest of the Western farmer that wheat prices be maintained. It is likewise in the interest of the city artisan and laborer. Cheap wheat might result in a slight lowering in the cost of bread, but a few cents less for bread would not compensate for loss of employment due to a slowing up or shutting down of industrial plants and other works caused by financial stringency.

On the other hand, the gradual marketing of wheat, the maintenance of its prices, and consequent profit to the farmer will enable the latter to pay a portion of his accumulated debts and thus ease the financial situation all along the line and operate to restore confidence and responsibility credit.

British Official Was Head of Survey Department in India

It is surprising to learn that the man whose name was given to the highest mountain in the world died so recently that his son is still alive. One is apt to think of the names of places as they were of immemorial antiquity. Yet it was only in 1856 that this mountain received its name. It was called after a British official in India, who afterwards became Sir George Everest. It was called in Tibetan, the language of the district in which it lies, Domo Kang Kar, or "Conquering" but no one quite knew which.

Sir George Everest was head of the Indian survey, a department concerned with mapping the whole country. He was so deeply interested in his work that, when he was once on a holiday in the Cape, he examined into the survey in that colony so it was then, and discovered mistakes which made it necessary to make a fresh survey.

OVERWORKED NERVES

The Most Successful Treatment is Through the Blood

The early stages of nervous debility are noted by restlessness and irritability in which the victims seem to be possessed by their nerves. As the trouble advances, common symptoms are a first feeling, weakness in the knees and ankles, headache, blackheads and sleeplessness. The matter requires immediate attention, for nothing but suitable treatment will prevent a complete breakdown.

The nervous system governs the whole body, controlling heart, lungs, digestion and brain, so that it is not surprising that nervous disturbances cause entire distress. For troubles of this kind Dr. Williams' Pink Pills succeed when other treatment fails, for these pills not only build up the elements on which the nerves thrive, and in this way reach the root of the trouble. This is the statement of Mrs. Dackell, Stratford, Ont., who says:—"My daughter, Martha, was suffering from nervous debility, and the usual remedies did not seem to help her. I was advised by a friend to give her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and soon we found my wife doing her a great deal of good. She complained of pains in the stomach, and a severe fluttering of the heart with a general weakness. Under the use of these pills she continued to gain, and I believe they have saved her from going into a decline."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box, 4 boxes for $2.00 from Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Giant World Bank Proposed

A plan for an international bank, with a capital of $2,000,000,000, which would re-emulate the methods of conducting international commercial transactions, was advanced by Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska, in a speech before the mid-summer convention of the National Retail Dry Goods Association at Grand Central Palace, New York. Under Senator Hitchcock's proposal, which started his heavy paper issued by the projected bank would be substituted for gold as the basis of international credit.

National Loss Is Suffered By Ireland In Death Of Collins

London.—The death of Michael Collins, who has fallen in actual combat with the rebels as one of the first victims of the substitute plan of the warfare for organized resistance to Provisional Government, has impressed the British public far more than could even the death of Arthur Griffith, while the circumstances of his death fighting against desperate odds in a carefully arranged ambush during the course of an inspection of his troops position around Cork, adds to the halo surrounding his lamented death.

His daring and his personal attractiveness, combined with his adventurous career and his reputation as a courageous fighter, as well as a potent administrator, helped to give him prominence and importance in the public eye, which was not shared to anything like the same extent by Griffith, who really was little known to the British people, and whose falling nature did not lend itself to public demonstrations.

The British press is filled with tributes, personal sketches, and of the hair-breadth escapes of the command, in-chief, together with tributes to his loyalty in carrying out the conditions of the treaty he signed with Great Britain. Prominent men at home and abroad, from the Prime Minister down, hastened to pay tributes of condolence and respect.

When Arthur Griffith died, it was the subject of general comment that his life's work was virtually accomplished and his ideals achieved. With Michael Collins, life work was still to do, and perhaps the question most exercising the British public is what will follow upon the tragic disappearance of the two most important Irish Free State leaders. It is pointed out that of the five principals signing the Anglo-Irish treaty, only one now remains in the Free State Government, Eamon J. Duggan. For the other signatories, Griffith and Collins are dead, George G. O'Duffy resigned because he disapproved of the draft of the constitution, while Richard Barrett long since dropped out of the Government.

Mr. Lloyd George issued the following statement in publication: "An inexpressible sadness at the news of the death of this gallant young Irishman. He fell a victim to a treacherous blow, delivered when he was engaged in endeavoring to restore order and liberty to his country, which stands really in need of it. His engaging personality won friendship even amongst those who met him as foes, and to all who met him the news of his death comes as a personal sorrow."

"I sincerely hope his death will be the last episode in this dark chapter of Irish history and that a new and brighter story will henceforth be written in the life of that unfortunate land."

Lord Chancellor Haldane, Winston Churchill and Viscount Fitzgibbon were among the men prominent in British public life who have sent messages in Mr. Cosgrave's sympathy with the Free State Government in its loss.

According to a Dublin dispatch to the Press Association, General Collins was to have been married this month.

George Howley, Minister of Agriculture. The announcement of the new scheme has been made by H. A. Craig, Deputy Minister. It follows the Government's operations in butter and egg marketing.

To Assist Farmers

Saskatchewan Premier Has Feasible Plan to Prevent Gutting Wheat Market

Regina, Sask.—A concrete suggestion outlining the method which might be adopted by the banks to assist the farmers to market their grain in such a manner as to prevent the gutting of the wheat market and a consequent depression in prices was telegraphed to Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, by Premier Charles A. Dunning.

Pointing out that the banks stand at the base of the pyramid of credit, Mr. Dunning suggested that "if they could devise means of extending the portions of amounts due from them to all creditors to enable more gradual liquidation," he feels sure that the effect would be felt through all classes of producers "down to the farmer and probably prevent slaughter of wheat prices."

Mr. Dunning points out that merchants as well as farmers stand creditors to the banks. In considerable sums of money, and his proposal involves a gradual liquidation of their bank indebtedness by all creditors, thus eliminating the necessity for merchants and other crowding the farmers for cash payments early in the fall.

The telegram to Premier Mackenzie King, follows the receipt by Mr. Dunning of a communication from Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, representing the Canadian Bankers' Association, in which Sir Frederick announces that the banks will furnish "all proper banking accommodation to ease for this year's crop," coupled with his personal assurance "that the banks will do their utmost to secure proper consideration, being deeply interested in the welfare of their customers and the prosperity of your province."

Railway Freight Shed Destroyed by Fire

Loss at Fort William Nearly Two Hundred Thousand Dollars

Fort William, Ont.—No. 2 freight shed of the Canadian Pacific Railway was practically destroyed by fire Aug. 26. The flames were kept from spreading into No. 2 shed which is separated by a fire wall from No. 3. The fire also spread to several box cars in the yard.

No. 3 shed and contents are completely destroyed and between 25 and 30 empty box cars are also a total loss. The shed contained 7,000 bags of cement, 1,000 tons of nails, several hundred tons of binder twine, some iron pipe and a quantity of miscellaneous freight. The bow of the steamer Keaton, which was tied to the dock, was badly scorched before she could be moved from the vicinity of the fire.

No information can be obtained as to where the fire started. Two Italians, who claim that they were the first to give the alarm, state that the shed was on fire when they first saw the flames, but others say that the first blaze originated in one of the box cars standing by the shed and spread to the buildings.

No records of the cost of the burned sheds are available in Fort William, but it is estimated that it could not be replaced for less than $20,000, and the cars are damaged to the extent of at least another $25,000. With the contents of the freight sheds the loss in the fire will probably total between $150,000 and $200,000.

Says Western

Coal Strike Over

Strike of Alberta Miners Has Been Virtually Settled

Calgary.—The Alberta coal strike was practically settled, when the executive of the miners and the operators came to terms on an agreement which provides:

(1) Reduction of 15 per cent on the old scale, which will be superseded as soon as 75 per cent of the operators in United States sent coal fields sign an agreement.

(2) The agreement shall be in effect until March 31 next.

The agreement must be submitted to a referendum of the men, but the officials say that it is hardly a matter of time, as it will be endorsed.

The miners expect to be back in the mines almost immediately.

Both miners and operators admit that the agreement practically means that the men are going back without any concession, because either 75 per cent of the operators across the line have either signed up or will be signed up by the end of the week. The agreement signed accordingly means that the Cleveland agreement has been accepted.

Western Wheat Will Be Shipped In Future Through Canadian Ports

Serious Economic

Situation in Ireland

Destruction by Irregulars Has Completely Disrupted Business

Dublin.—Grave economic conditions have come rapidly in the wake of the policy of destruction of the irregulars in Western Ireland. The collapse of some of the larger business concerns has only been averted, it is declared, by steady support from banks, but the fact that the farmers and others have been unable to pay the interest on their advances for many months is bringing about a position in which the banks may be compelled to take action.

Business prospects are extremely bad; prices of produce are falling rapidly, and the export trade through the ports is being seriously affected by the destruction of railways and bridges. Perishable products, such as butter, are spoiling, as there are no facilities for cold storage. Until normal conditions return the output of the irregulars must be curtailed.

Vancouver Millers Lower Flour Prices

Vancouver.—Following the conflict in line with recent declines in the price of wheat, Vancouver millers have reduced the wholesale price of flour by thirty cents a barrel for cash lots.

Ottawa.—Following investigation of complaints made to the Department of Trade and Commerce last regarding the grades of grain received in Canada after shipment from Western England via United States ports and the taking up of similar questions with the British grain importers during the visit of Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Trade and Commerce to Britain, it is expected that steps will be taken to try and secure the shipment of a greater percentage of Canadian wheat through Canadian ports than previously.

Occasional complaints have been received by the department from British importers that grain received from them from Canada was not up to the standard of Canadian grades.

Investigation of several complaints was made during the past year, and it was found that the grain in question had been shipped to the old country through United States ports and that in the trans-shipment to American elevators wheat of inferior quality had become mixed with the Canadian product. This practice was taken up by Mr. Robb while in England and it is understood that some of the British importers made vigorous objections to the present system of exporting. They were satisfied with the Canadian grading system but claimed that when the grain was not shipped directly through Canadian ports, they were not certain that their grain would be equal to the standard price which they had contracted for.

The outcome of the conference is expected to be a further development of elevator facilities at Canadian ports in order that as much Canadian grain as possible may be shipped direct and there also is a possibility that Canadian exporters, in order to protect the high standard of Canadian breadstuffs in the world markets, may be asked to bond their exports when they are shipped through foreign ports.

Murder Plan In Egypt

One Englishman a Day Until Nationalist Leader Is Returned

Alexandria, Egypt.—The prospect of a day in this city, on Lieutenant Colonel Arthur Frederick Hamilton Pickett was the sixteenth case in the series of murderous assaults upon British subjects in Egypt. It called again to mind the threat of the nationalists that an Englishman would be shot daily until the return of Saad Zagloul Pasha, the Nationalist leader who was deported by the British last December, and it is the latest addition to the extended chain of anti-British political outrages.

Lieutenant Colonel Pickett, of the Royal Army Pay Corps, was shot and gravely wounded in Kadi el Fadi Street, by unknown assailants while walking to his office. He was taken immediately into the house of an Egyptian doctor, M. Abdel Megad of No. 1 Kadi el Fadi Street, and was given first aid, being afterwards transported to the Officers' Hospital at Abbassieh, where one of the three bullets which had hit him was extracted.

Hopes are entertained of his recovery, but this new crime has aroused great indignation among the Egyptian population in Egypt.

George Ham Celebrated 75th Birthday

Montreal.—George H. Ham, the veteran mountaineer, celebrated his seventy-fifth birthday Aug. 23rd. He was at his office at the Canadian Pacific Railway Winter Station, as usual, as usual. His seventy-fourth birthday was marked by the publication of the book, "Reminiscences of a Mountaineer."

Mr. Ham is now preparing another book.

London-Paris Air Express Wrecked

Paris.—Five passengers on a London-Paris airplane narrowly escaped death when the machine crashed at Breck-Pierre, about 22 miles south of Boulogne. The mishap was due to engine trouble. Although the machine was crashed, the passengers escaped with minor injuries.

Cutting grain is the order of the day. Most of the grain which will thresh is cut and a better crop is showing up than was at first expected.

Green feed is making excellent progress and if the frost keeps away another two weeks we will have a heavy yield of fodder.

Mr. Simeon Megle of near Swatwell made a business trip through here last week canvassing for threshing and expects to pull in here with a Case steam outfit. Mr. Megle is an experienced thrasher and will be able to give satisfaction. He and his father-in-law, Mr. Scharfner from Sunnyslope, threshed this district last year and gave satisfaction without holding anyone up.

Mr. Fred Harder of north of here drove his entire bunch of cattle through to the market last Monday about 100 head. That's getting rid of them anyway even if one can't get any price for them.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Liesner and family spent Sunday at Mr. Harry Beckners and Harry Liesners at Carstairs.

Quite a number of people around this burg took in the championship game of baseball and other games at Olds last Monday.

Park Conitlam, B.C.—On July 29 the city treasurer received $16,000, the C. P. R. taxes, which were not really payable until August 31. There is jubilation in the City Hall for these taxes are the first paid since the expiry of the by-law fixing the flat rate.

St. John, N.B.—All the C. P. R. employees now living who served in the recent war will have a token to commemorate their sacrifice in the shape of a scroll which is a fine piece of work and is almost a copy of the large bronze tablet unveiled by the C. P. R. here on April 25, 1922. The scroll is signed by E. W. Beatty, President C. P. R., and E. Alexander, Secretary. The inscription on the scroll reads:

"In honor of duty nobly done. This scroll serves to commemorate that, while in the service of the Canadian Pacific Railway (the recipient's name appears here), relinquished his position in response to the call of King and country and served during the Great War 1914-1918.

The base of the scroll is set off by the names of the following battles: Ypres, Festubert, the Somme, Vimy, Hill 70, Passchendaele, Amiens, Cambrai, Drocourt-Queant and Meuse.

Regina.—The Saskatchewan letter farming train brought its highly successful tour to a conclusion, recently, and Mr. Williams, agricultural agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, expressed his belief that this train, the biggest yet operated, with the biggest attendance, also got bigger and better result, than any of its predecessors.

"Many allies," said Professor Winters, of the Animal Husbandry Department of the College of Agriculture, who was on the train through the whole trip, "will be built as a result of the visit of the better farming train."

Professor Potts, who was lecturing on dairying and who was in charge of the dairy exhibit car, stated that in the southern and eastern parts of the province there is a very noticeable increase in the interest taken in cow testing work, and one result of the tour of the train, he was convinced, will be that a very large number of dairymen will now adopt this method and many others, formerly doubters, are now convinced of the value of this system.

Lubrication, ignition and carburetor troubles were the chief matters upon which farmers sought the assistance of Mr. Macpherson in the fact mechanics car, and he believed that an unprecedented number of motor users benefited by bringing their problems for solution to the better farming train.

Both the household science and the forestry sections were very busy throughout the trip.

In the field husbandry car Miss Brynford's bees attracted considerable attention. This lady has kept bees for many years near Wawota, and last year her output of honey reached well over 900 pounds.

Mr. Finlayson, who was in charge of the poultry car, the greater part of the trip, states there seems to be a good deal of doubt regarding the action fronted poultry houses, some complaining that the birds freeze their combs. This, he said, was because the houses were overcrowded, and the more hens there are the more moisture comes from the condensing breath. A hen's temperature is 106, and she can stand the cold perfectly well, as long as the air is dry. The rotten fronted poultry house, with isolated walls and properly ventilated, has been found absolutely satisfactory at the College of Agriculture.

BUFFALO FOR ENGLAND

A pair of buffalo from the great Canadian herd in Buffalo Park, Wainwright, Alberta, will be shipped to England early this fall for the purpose of introducing new blood into the herds in the Zoological Gardens at Regent's Park. The shipment will probably go east late this month or early in September and will be accompanied by an attendant who will place the animals on board ship.

The only herd of buffalo of any size in England is that owned by the Duke of Bedford at Woburn Park, containing about sixty animals. Buffalo were first introduced into the Old Country in 1891 when ten full grown animals were shipped by Colonel C. J. Jones, familiarly known as "Buffalo Jones," from his own herd at McCook, Nebraska, to C. J. Lehard.

Some of these afterward came into the possession of the Duke of Bedford and were added to by purchases from Col. Goodnight and Carl Hagenback.

The shipment of buffalo from the Canadian herd at Wainwright this fall will be the second of its kind to Great Britain. Late in 1913, at the instance of the late Lord Strathcona, a donation of two three-year-old lions was made to the Royal Zoological Society of Ireland to be placed in the Dublin Gardens where they have now increased to five. Loans of buffalo to the Zoological Collections in various Canadian cities under a bond guaranteeing adequate provision for the health and maintenance of the animals have also been made from time to time.

A peculiar auto accident occurred at Niagara Falls, Ont., last week. The driver had left his car by the side of the Falls with a lady, Mrs. Annie Miller, of Cleveland, sitting in it when the car for some reason began to slip down the embankment. Two men tried to stop it but the car went over the brink and plunged into the gorge with Mrs. Miller inside.

Windsor, Charing this year's record for an early shipment of grain, the Lake of the Woods Milling Company on August 2nd moved the first car of wheat to the head of the lake. The grain, which came from the farms of John Jones and M. W. Jennings, of Rosedale, Minn., graded No. 1 northern and was shipped from the Lake of the Woods mill at Rosedale.

August 3 is considered the earliest date in a number of years that grain has been moved eastward. Carriers for automobile drivers at Windsor crossing is still prevalent. On every occasion the motorists come of second best. The carriers are doing all in their power to prevent accidents. If they were only met half way many fatalities would be avoided and many automobiles and lives saved from the ever recurring theatre.

A few days ago at Ayr, Ontario, a man named W. Zehr was driving south in a Grant automobile across Northumberland Street. He was into the side of a train, striking it behind the locomotive. As a result of the impact Mr. Zehr's automobile was badly broken but the injury to the train was slight. The train was switching at the time of the occurrence.

Presently, The Canadian Pacific Railway offers two scholarships per year for the best students of high school or college, or of university reference to minor sons of employees. This year there were 16 candidates in the contest, which was held last month, comprising students from Halifax, N.S., to Victoria, B.C. George Harold Kingston of Toronto received the highest number of marks, winning one of the scholarships, which means free tuition at McGill College, Montreal, for five years. Mr. Myrl Norstrom, of Victoria, B.C., won second place.

Calgary—Ronald W. Greene, of Winnipeg, who was recently appointed assistant general agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is now in Calgary with headquarters here, and is in the city to make over his offices here. Mr. Greene will have offices in the C. P. B. depot and will conduct all Atlantic and Pacific steamship business in the Province of Alberta.

W. C. Casey, general agent of the passenger department of the C.P.R., has just arrived in the city. He will be in charge of the passenger traffic of the Pacific coast and the new steamships, the "Empress of Australia" on the Pacific coast and the "Empress of Japan" on the Hong Kong and London routes. He said that Great Pacific traffic was reasonably fair at the present time and believed that traffic would be even heavier in the fall, both to and from the Orient.

Lanarkshire.—With every hotel along the Canadian Pacific Railway taxed to capacity, and with the numerous tourist offices commencing to receive a volume of travel that has never before in their history, Western Canada is enjoying a tourist traffic this year that has never been equaled in past seasons.

During the past few days it has been necessary for the majority of the hotel and tourist agents to make four and five trips to the hotels from the business in order to accommodate the incoming passengers, and the trains both from the east and from the west have been similarly "well filled with visitors."

Tourist traffic over C.P.R. waters is expected to be greater than it was in 1921, and General Passenger Agent H. W. Brooks, as his return from an inspection trip which carried him as far as Banff. "Travel is now at its full height and many Americans are coming across. Train both east and westward are well filled and Western Canada is enjoying a great summer season."

All the mountain resorts along the main line of the C.P.R. are being well patronized, and the Arrow Lakes and Okanagan country points are also the focus for hundreds of tourists from the American side. Road travel from the American side is being well filled every trip, while the ferry steamers between Vancouver Island, British Columbia and Vancouver are loaded to capacity.

The opening of the Banff-Lake Louise road through the mountains has done much to bring a large volume of tourists here. Traffic is expected to be greater than it was in 1921, and the Banff-Windermere road, which is now open, is expected that there will be an increase in the volume of tourist traffic directed through British Columbia.

Many cars are coming from the east and north up through the mountains into Banff and Lake Louise. The tourist season is well advanced and the volume of traffic is increasing. The Banff-Lake Louise road, which is now open, is expected that there will be an increase in the volume of tourist traffic directed through British Columbia.

Highest Tea-Room in the Empire

A few days ago there opened the highest tea room in the British Empire, 7,985 ft. above sea level on Saddleback range, in the Canadian Pacific Rockies. It is one of the quaintest of log-cabin shelters.

If you care to follow one of the loveliest mountain trails, we can climb together. If you believe in wood nymphs, if you love Alpine flora, so much the better, for the forest paths are aglow with starry flowered ferns.

Leaving Lake Louise the trail plunges immediately into the wooded aisles of Mount Fairview. Each turn and a more beautiful vista, mossy slopes where grow the exotically in their natural environment. Fully furnished holding down in their cup-like receptacles, in grayish green colorings, effect the beauty of the fallen pine cones.

Rhododendrons grow wild here. To meet them growing wild on a mountain slope in the Canadian Rockies is truly a joy. There they are in close proximity to the wild heliopsis.

On we climb, pausing to revel in a valleyed panorama. Far down below is Paradise River, winding and twisting, like a platinum ribbon unfurling in a wayward wind. Little Lake Annetto, shy and demure, lies in a hollow. A lazy marmot creeps out to see what human disturbance this morning's siesta. Gazing at us in a disgruntled manner, he saunters off, whistling to his mate. Our enemies were approaching.

As the cliffs become less tree-clad, vegetation becomes less prolific. But to recompense this lack, nature had clothed the rocky crags with heather. Yes, there it is, the white bell-like blossoms proclaiming their message of love.

Another climb, this time over rocky stones, where one steps cautiously, envying the agility of the wild mountain rabbits that dart back to shelter at our approach, and we reach the goal of our ascent! We have climbed to seven thousand, nine hundred and eighty-five feet above sea level!

True to its name, sits the Saddleback Cabin Tea-house, resting between two higher peaks, which take on the appearance of a Mexican saddle. Snow-capped Mount Temple stands guard while trails leading to Shoel Valley and Paradise Valley look enticingly attractive.

A delightful English atmosphere permeates the interior of this old cabin, the original portion being well furnished with mimes and dates as far back as 1890, by mountaineers, who sought shelter for the night, or protection from a short-lived blizzard, which occasionally varies the monotony of too perfect weather.

The hostess, a charming, fair haired English girl dispenses true old world hospitality, and has made a happy selection of cottage pottery, for use on the log-painted tables, done in dull blue tones.

Decking the tables are wild flowers, blending harmoniously their coloring, the large mountain aster in soft lavender tones snuggled up closely to the yellow anemone; the alpine seed pods of the chalcid cup often the vivid red of the Indian paint brush, and the purple beardtuage and heliopsis are also tucked in together.

A strapping youth from Calgary climbs the trail twice a day with provisions, for this "Top-of-the-world" tea-house, and carries baskets of snow to be melted for the brewing of tea.

Miss Annette Wyman, who manages this unique tea-house is truly a keen lover of the open. Laughingly she told of the resorting of the snarling marmot, the thorny porcupine and the rock rabbit, when she first took possession of this log cabin mountain shelter.

Two cheerful nights were spent listening to the all-night sessions held by these furry creatures, over the advisability of evacuating their strongholds underneath the flooring. Finally, after much arguing, they decided a move was imperative.

To those of you who love the great open spaces, and the grandeur of mountainous trails, the writer would recommend this climb, filled as it is with the best that nature gives.

—Dorothy Perkins.

If your back aches and you suffer from dropping pains, it is an evidence that your kidneys may not be acting just right. What you need is a course with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They contain both Standard and Bismuth and act very beneficially upon the liver and kidneys. I was bothered a great deal with my kidneys, but got quick relief from Dr. Hamilton's Pills. But I hated, Carbon City.

June 21st, 1913.

What a wonderful lot of things I must have had on Wednesday! The fatality for the nation of my self respect, I have ever since been too easy to be done, the days have not been full enough to hold all the new impressions.

I was filled with early Thursday morning, being full as I after all these might be worse places than Carbon City. And when I had eaten my breakfast and written to Mother and Mrs. Arnold, and made a trial of my skill on the "Boswell" plan, I felt that these might be very much worse

places. By the way, Mrs. Bingham tells me that the sheep-dipping plan is a well-considered but rather expensive plan. I am sure that sheep-dipping is a plan that is not to be taken lightly. I am sure that it is a plan that is not to be

she returned, perched proudly on the shoulder of . . . Don Livingstone.

The thought of the shilling I nearly gave him filled my mind so completely that I scarcely heard Mrs. Bingham

as she introduced him. Of course he is not Mrs. Bingham's brother, as I supposed from Sunny's constant chatter about "Uncle Don" but Mr.

Bingham's partner, and merely asked by Sunny as I am.

Due, no doubt, to the fact that he had the upper hand, Mr. Livingstone

did not seem to be the least bit concerned, and there was a narrow twinkle in his eye as he asked me if this was my first visit to the West.

Humiliating as it was, I was forced to believe that his apparent embarrassment at that former occasion was not embarrassment at all, but well-considered amusement. I have a presentiment that he is going to need discipline, I do not approve of calm politeness accompanied by a wink. I was very cool and very thrilled, slightly bored in fact, if one were to judge by my deportment. And

I suppose Mary knew all the time that "Uncle Don" was. Revenge will be sweet.

At half-past nine we left the town.

The horse that came prancing up to the hotel door must have been closely related to those that tried to climb

the elevator at Elba, but Sunny was delighted to see them, so I concluded that they could not be quite so narrowed as they looked.

"Mother, can't I please sit in the front seat with Uncle Don?" coaxed

Sunny. "And you come too, Annie

Elliot, so I can tell you just as soon as we see the house. I wonder if David will come to meet me. Do you think he will, Uncle Don?"

"Sure he will," replied that self-possessed young man in answer to the last question. He promised me faithfully last night that he would wait for us at the first stage. Then he added,

"Watch Annie Elliot, she will rather sit with her back to the horses—

English people are like that, you know."

The check of him.

"Thank you," I said, gratefully.

"Annie Elliot," said David's cousin

Elliot, "would much rather sit with Mrs. Bingham."

Going in a southerly direction

from the town we followed the well-worn trail mile after mile, over plain and through valleys. Once we sighted olive green, another mile and we found woolly coals; another mile a typical looking eagle flapped up ahead of us, and once we saw in the distance

a large flock of sheep watched over

by a solitary shepherd.

In one place I noticed that the "cut-hairs" were streaked with black, and

Mr. Bingham, in response to my remarks, explained the strange marking appearance, told me that the black streaks were outcroppings of the coal, and pointed to a place far

along the canyon where a mine shaft could be dimly seen. A "cut-hair" is, presumably, a place where some prehistoric glacier or other interment has torn away the face of a hill and left a cleanly cut bank as steep

and smooth as the side of a house,

excellent place in which to study geological strata.

When I finally saw a house, on quies out of Carbon City, I felt as if I had sure "Columbus" must have been sighted here. This house, by the way, is the only one between

Carbon City and the Bar.

It is that a ranch, I heard.

"No," replied Mrs. Bingham with a starched emphasis, "that is a farm."

"I'll call them that," I have some books and magazines on Mrs. Carroll's.

"A farm?" I repeated. "I did not know that there were farms in this part of the country."

"There should be," Mrs. Bingham answered. And then she told me

the history of the Carrolls.

They are English, of good family, and used to all the refinements of the luxuries of life. But two years ago

a "land shark," to use Mrs. Bingham's phrase, combined business and pleasure in a visit to the Old Country, and while there persuaded Mr. Carroll to sink all his capital in this so-called farm. He enlarged upon the cheapness of the land and the healthfulness of the warm Alberta winters,

but he omitted all mention of the fact that two-thirds of the land was bounded by river bottom, and that an exceedingly light rainfall made farming next to impossible. And he did not tell them that the "good house"

was a two-roomed shack with no

fire and a bad roof.

It is fair to say that Mr. Carroll should have made inquiries into the record of the man with whom he was dealing, but he is supposed to be very practical, at any rate, they are here

too proud to ask or accept assistance, and absolutely penniless except for a small annuity belonging to Mrs. Carroll. Of course as soon as they found that they had been tricked they tried to cancel the agreement and to have their payment refunded, but the agent had "swapped the country" and had not been heard of since.

It made me feel positively wretched to see the place. Mrs. Carroll came to the door as we drove up, and instead of going in just as if her infernal shack had been a mansion. But she seemed to be relieved when Mrs.

Bingham said that we would not get out of the wagon, as we had only a few minutes to stay. Then Mrs.

Bingham introduced me, saying that I was from England and that I was interested in the winter at the ranch.

"From England," Mrs. Carroll repeated

slowly, and I hope I shall never again see an expression of sadness such as crossed her face on this occasion. Mr.

Carroll did not appear. I have heard of him, but he does not much like the idea of being seen from what the left unsaid, that he has allowed himself to be completely persuaded to exert himself matters might be great improved. They have one child, a little boy of about Sunny's age.

In ten minutes we "left the trail"

again, and again drove mile after mile over plain and through valleys. I was beginning to feel as if my back were sixty miles too long, and to speculate upon how many miles of skin would peel off my nose, when suddenly

Sunny called out, "What your eyes,

Annie Elliot, and don't open them until I tell you to."

I closed my eyes obediently, glad enough to rest them from the blinding

sun. Promptly came the second order.

"Now, Annie Elliot, look!"

I looked.

And far away to the southwest the jagged line of the Rockies broke into the blue of the sky. So far away that their natural colours were not discernible, and they seemed to be of shimmering steel and mother-of-

pearl, so beautiful in their unexpected contrast that I could not speak.

"That big one over there by himself is Old Chief; he belongs to the bankers, but I just love him," counselled Sunny.

I looked until my eyes ached, then

I looked down and looked again. Still

I ever the look of looking. I wonder? Need

I say that the remainder of our drive

was not uneventful.

David was waiting for us at the first stage. Never was a small dog so greatly excited. He was only allowed when any old he was from the side of the house to his rudimentary talk, ran around and around the wagon bark-ling like mad, and was only allowed when

Mr. Livingstone got out and lifted him to the stage beside Sunny. He is a half-breed little dog, with a splash

black spot around one eye and a Chamberlain and a trick of running on his hind legs.

An All-Metal Aeroplane

Airships Made of Aluminum May Supplant Earlier Types

There was recently completed in Great Britain the first aeroplane to be made wholly of metal. The advantages of doing away with wood and other combustible material need not be emphasized; and the all-metal aeroplane gives promise of supplanting all the earlier types. A special alloy of aluminum is used in its construction, and the Government is at present engaged in making very elaborate tests of the strength of every part. Special attention is being given to the risks of corrosion with the metal employed and investigations on this point are being carried out in the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research. So much depends on this new type of aeroplane that at least the first flying tests have been very satisfactory. The Government intends to regard the model as an experiment and to suspend judgment until a most exhaustive examination over a long period is completed.

Keep Minard's Liniment in the house

A Valuable Gift
Twelve mountain sheep were recently presented to the United States Bureau of Biological Survey by the Canadian National Parks Branch, to be liberated on the Montana National Bison Range. The sheep were secured from the Rocky Mountain Park and arrived at their destination in excellent condition. Their future will be watched with a great deal of interest by big game enthusiasts.

Miller's Worm Powders were devised to promptly relieve children who suffer from the ravages of worms. It is a simple preparation, to destroy stomachic and intestinal worms with our shock or injury to the most sensitive system. They act thoroughly and painlessly, and though in some cases they may cause vomiting, that is an indication of their powerful action and not of any nauseating property.

Pure-Bred Registered Berkshire Pigs Distributed Amongst School Children

Seven hundred purchased registered Berkshire sow pigs were distributed at Brooks and Bassano to thirty-six boys and girls, members of the pig clubs at these points. The pigs cost $20 each delivered, and the purchases were financed by the local banks, which loaned approved members $40 on their notes. These pigs will all be taken care of and sold by the members themselves, who will exhibit them at the school fairs.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS

A newly cured by constitutional treatment. HALL'S CATARRHAL MEDICINE is a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an intense excitation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. The best inflammation can be reduced, ear hearing can be restored, and HALL'S CATARRHAL MEDICINE acts through the blood, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring Nature in restoring normal circulation.

Perpetual Motion Clock

This Clock Runs 10 Years Before It Is Wound

A demonstration of a clock which goes for 10 years without winding was given at the office of the British Electric Limited, in Kingston. The clock, which is called the "Bulle," is worked by electricity, and requires no special installation. The controlling principle is electromagnetic action. The current is drawn from a battery enclosed in a brass cylinder. The battery drives the pendulum, and the pendulum in turn acts as a motor and dynamo, and generates the required current. Just sufficient current is used to keep the battery alive. Even at the end of 10 years winding is unnecessary. If the battery is renewed after that time the clock will go on until the end of the world, or, at least, until the mechanism "busts."

Exhibits From Brooks

Superiority of District Shown by Requests for Excess Samples

For many years the superiority of the Brooks district has been acknowledged by requests to furnish exhibit samples of bundles of alfalfa, clover, vetches, peas, timothy, home grasses, western vetch, grains and grass seeds, and contrails have again been sent to many local farmers, both by the Dominion and Provincial Governments, for several carloads of exhibit bundles of agricultural products. These are to be distributed throughout the United States and Europe.

BABY'S GREAT DANGER
DURING HOT WEATHER

More little ones die during the hot weather than at any other time of the year. Diarrhoea, indigestion, cholera infantum and stomach troubles come without warning, and when a medicine is not at hand to give promptly the short delay too frequently means that the child has passed beyond the reach of medicine. There should always be kept in the house several boxes of Baby's Tablets, for if the trouble comes suddenly the medicine is not at hand to relieve the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Discoveries Made at South Pole

Crew of Quest Found Gigantic Forests Under the Sea

There is a wonderful diamond mine in the Antarctic regions. This statement was made by members of the Shackleton-Robert Expedition. On a small island near South Georgia, on the fringe of the great icefields which guard the South Pole, salt was discovered which the Quest's mineralogist declared to be the type that carries diamonds.

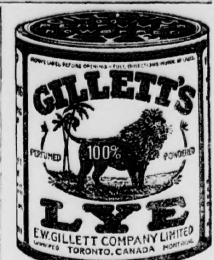

The expedition also discovered yellow granite, and it is expected that an attempt will be made by a South African company to locate the diamond mine.

This is only one of the many discoveries made by members of the expedition. Gigantic forests were discovered under the sea, and vast new fishing grounds were located. The Antarctic waters are swarming with edible fish and present a new outlet for the fishing industry. In fact, the fish are so plentiful that the expedition never needed to use salt or any desalination.

Extensive soundings were taken, and the greatest depth recorded was 2,700 fathoms.

It is held by scientists that a human being cannot live without a brain, which only goes to prove how mistaken scientists can be occasionally.

Minard's Liniment Lumbago's Friend

Locomotive From Scrap Iron

Mechanical Genius of Burning Ayres Completes Miniature Train

Working on eleven years, with a life as his only tool, a man in Illinois Ayres has made a miniature locomotive of scrap iron. The locomotive can be operated under its own power by the use of compressed air. The iron was not heated in the making but was worked cold. A small coal tender and passenger coach were made at the same time and the whole thing is a little more than six feet in length and weighs 170 pounds. More than 1,200 screws and 2,000 rivets were used in the work. The train is complete to the last tiny detail and is built on the model of the equipment used on the British railroads of that country.

For years I have been considering my lack of liniment. I have been told that a bottle of Minard's Liniment was the best for all kinds of ailments, from rheumatism to chilblains. It is really a great relief to the head, or that will give more liniment. I have been told that it is the best through the most often.

YOUNG WOMEN
WHO SUFFER

Letter Points Way Towards Relief—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ontario.—"I suffered from the time I was a school-girl until I was married. I had taken your medicine with me in my left side and with cramps, growing worse each year until I was all run down. I was so bad at times that I was unfit for work. I tried several doctors and patent medicines and was only relieved for a short time. Some of the doctors wanted to have an operation, but my father objected. Finally I learned through my mother of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and how thankful I am that I tried it. I am relieved from pain and cramps and feel as if I have saved my life. You may use my letter to help other women as I am glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. H. A. Goodman, 14 Rockville Ave., Toronto, Ontario.

Taste the joy of living!

There is no greater joy than perfect health—the heritage of those who obey the simple laws of Nature.

Drugs are useful in case of sickness, but Nature strongly objects to their continued use by normal, healthy persons.

Caffeine, the alkaloid in tea and coffee, is a slow but powerful drug. In the hands of a doctor, it is useful and beneficial. But taken regularly, as a daily stimulant, it often upsets the nerves, causing serious organic troubles.

The Dominion government paid out $1,500,000 for unemployment relief last year according to Mr. Murdock Minister of Labor. It is expected that there will be a good deal less unemployment this winter than last.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—A concerted drive has been started by leaders of the farm tariff blow in house and senate to prevent material reduction in the high agricultural rates fixed by the senate in the tariff bill.

One of their purposes is to continue the 30-cent wheat duty of the senate measure. Prominent house agricultural leaders predict the senate agricultural rates will be retained with little or no reductions.

ROCKYFORD WINS INTERMEDIATE CHAMPIONSHIP

Carstairs, Infield Cracked In Seventh Inning and Rockyford Won Interesting Game 7 to 2

Quoting Mr. John J. McGraw, a baseball team, like a clock, is no stronger than its weakest part. However, when the weakest part holds firm and the strongest part cracks, what's the answer?

Meaning that the much touted infield of the Carstairs team wobbled long enough in the seventh inning before the machine-like attack of the Rockyford nine in the third and final game at Olds on Monday. The Ross-bred leaguers crumpled up where they were supposed to be the strongest. When the pinch came one little lad, L. J. was made and when the inning terminated Rockyford had sufficient runs to win the 1922 Provincial baseball championship. They eventually won 7 to 2.

In the neighborhood of 2,000 fans, from a radius of probably 100 miles assembled at Olds for the final clash, and they were treated to a wonderful baseball contest, one that was fitting in every particular for the championship.

With the score standing 2 to 2 in the first of the seventh, Ollie Tidball, second baseman of Carstairs, fielded a grounder and instead of making sure of the runner going to first he made a play for third, throwing the ball into the crowd. There was one down at the time and he could have gotten the man at first quite easily. One runner came in on the wild throw and two more followed on a couple of two-base hits. This was the break that decided the game for the Grasshopper league champs, as they had all the confidence in the world, while the Carstairs boys showed the effects of the misplay, and try and fight back as they did, they could not push another runner around the circuit.

It is doubtful if a more interesting and better-played ball game, especially when so much was at stake, has ever been recorded in amateur baseball history. It was big league baseball until that fatal break in the seventh. The crowd witnessing the game broke all attendance records in Olds.—Morning Albertan.

Lieut. Tale.—They say Captain Jinks was very calm and collected after his accident this morning.

Col. Spin.—Yes, yes, quite calm—he's still being collected however.
